

LIFE REFLECTION

RaShonda D. Bacon was a radiant soul whose life overflowed with love, creativity, and purpose. Born in St. Louis, Missouri, and raised in Jacksonville, Arkansas, she graduated with honors from Jacksonville High School, where she excelled both academically and athletically as a proud member of the girls' basketball team.

Her love for singing was nurtured by her father, Roger Bacon, who introduced her to gospel music—an influence that shaped her voice and spirit throughout her life. As a teen and young adult, RaShonda graced local runways as a confident model, radiating beauty and grace.

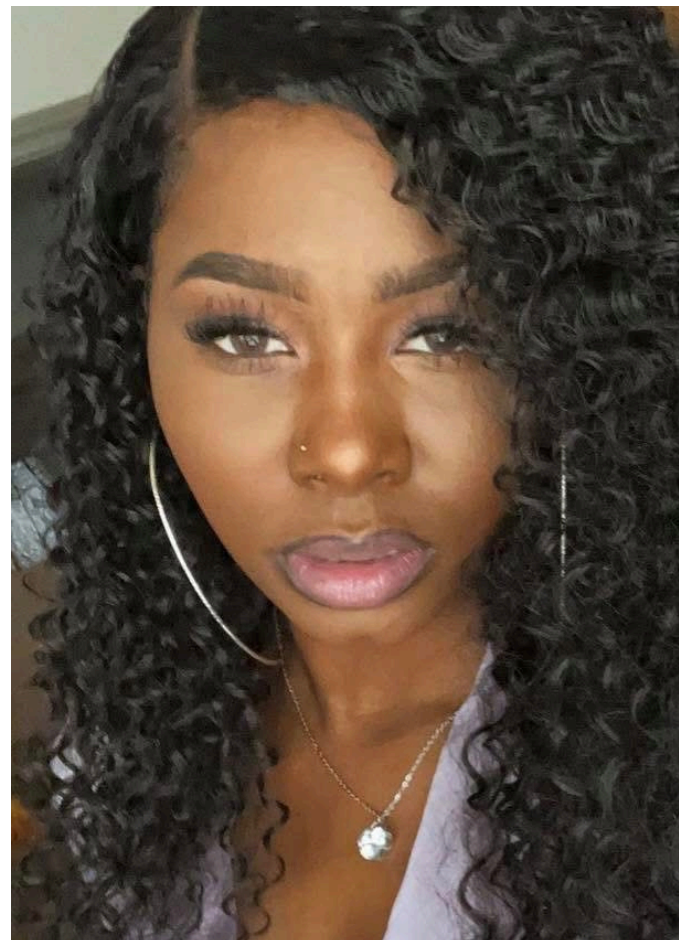

Professionally, she pursued a career as a radiologic technologist, blending intellectual excellence with a heart for service. Driven to uplift others, she founded RAD Tech, a social media platform that simplified complex radiology modules and empowered students to succeed through her mentorship and guidance.

RaShonda's creativity extended beyond medicine. Through her fashion brand, Fashionable RaRa, she inspired thousands with her bold style, authenticity, and encouragement for women to embrace their individuality and confidence.

Her faith in God was unwavering. As a daughter, sister, aunt, friend, and mentor, RaShonda embodied compassion, humor, and strength—leaving an indelible mark on all who knew her.

RaShonda's light was too brilliant to be confined to this world; it will continue to illuminate hearts for generations to come.
